

Tyler Ko, Instructor

Tyler Ko has been dancing for as long as he can remember. His love of movement and creative expression began within the realm of formal jazz training at Decidedly Jazz Danceworks (DJD). It was through his work at DJD that led him to a youth dance company named Youth Dance Unlimited (YDU), where he furthered his exposure to the styles of modern, contemporary, and African dance. Through this company he was introduced to the internationally renowned dancer, Tara Wilson, who was instrumental in stretching Tyler's dance repertoire into the rhythmically electric dance forms of funk and hip hop. It was during Tyler's second year at YDU that he was first exposed to the world of breakdancing (b-boying, breaking) through choreography led by renowned breaker's Steve Scullion and Thi Vo. Tyler has been breakdancing passionately since. Tyler now spends every waking moment honing his art and loving every minute of it!

"It seems that there is a lot of misconception surrounding b-boying and I would like to validate it as a legitimate form of artistic expression in the same manner as other classic styles of dance. This dance and culture is my passion and I love educating others about its movements and philosophies." –Tyler Ko

We at SoundKreations are confident that you and your students will be pleased with Tyler Ko within your classroom this week.
